

Construction Project Engineer

For this position, we want hardworking individuals with a passion for engineering. As part of our team, you will be working with top engineers in the industry and will be given the building blocks for a successful career as a project engineer. Working with large-scale, complex commercial projects, you will constantly be presented with the opportunity to learn new things. Your growth in our company will be determined by how motivated you are to improve your skills and evolve as an engineer.

About Us:

Architectural Casework Inc. is the leading manufacturer of architectural casework and millwork, in Southern California. With over 35 years in the industry, the team at ACI masters projects of various sizes and scope in several industries including, but not limited to: education, healthcare, hospitality & tourism, community centers, executive offices, and multi-unit housing projects.

Website Link: aci-sd.com

The Position:

Starting out, your job responsibilities include:

- Purchasing raw material for projects
 - Importing raw material requirements
 - Search through different vendors and negotiate for the best possible price
 - Assure material arrives on time

- Submittal drawings
 - Read through blueprints provided by GC or architect
 - Transfer plans to cabinet software and optimize based on specifications

- Work order adjustments
 - Provide tasks for the production team; cut lists, punch lists, CNC preparation, etc.

Requirement:

- Bachelors degree or higher
- Experience with Cabinet Vision software or equivalent: 2 Yrs
- Ability to self-manage
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills
- Excellent attention to detail

Why Should You Apply?

- Training from reputable engineers
- Bonus pay based on performance
- Major room for growth
- Goal-oriented, like-minded team.

Compensation

$25-30 based on experience and initial required training

Interested?

If you are interested in this position send an email to the address below with your resume and cover letter included.

Email: Cameron@aci-sd.com

Office number: 619-671-9663